Dear Customer,

As the conflict in the Middle East continues to affect global supply chains, we are focussed on maintaining the availability of beverages to your business.

We understand the importance of shelf availability and are working hard to manage the impact of rising costs across our supply chain.

We remain committed to maintaining product availability, pursuing productivity initiatives and working closely with you during this period while we manage our costs tightly.

Temporary fuel levy

Despite our efforts to manage rising costs, sustained increases in fuel costs since the Middle East conflict began mean we have made the difficult decision to introduce a temporary fuel levy.

The temporary fuel levy will be limited to recovering the additional cost of diesel we have incurred, and other fuel-related costs passed on from other suppliers.

We have calculated the amount of the levy having regard to:

- The change in the publicly available Diesel Terminal Gate Price since the conflict began in late February; and
- Any direct increase in costs from other suppliers related to the fuel price.

The levy will apply as follows:

Arranged Delivery

- Kegs: $2.20 per keg
- Bag-in-Box: $0.30 per carton

The levy will apply to all orders placed from 11 May 2026.

While the levy only applies to those products referred to above, we will also be introducing a temporary fuel levy on packaged beverages at a later time. We will communicate separately with you about the commencement date of the packaged beverages fuel levy.

We will continue to closely monitor diesel fuel prices and keep the fuel levy under review. We will adjust or remove the levy as the situation evolves.

We appreciate your understanding and our partnership during this time.
